

K.C. Ranch Horse Classic

About the competition-

The KCRHC is a competition to highlight and evaluate the abilities of ranch & working horses. Each entry will be assessed in the following areas

Ranch Trail

Manuever through practical ranch trail obstacles including crossing a bridge, loading in a trailer, dragging a log, opening/closing a gate while mounted, and more

Ranch Reining

Each entry will complete a simple reining pattern to test the handling ability of the horse. This pattern will include loping circles, lead changes, stops, spins and roll-backs

Cow Work

Participants will drive a cow the length of the arena along the fence, stop it and reverse its direction. They will then take the cow back down arena fence to the corner, stop and settle it. Finally they will rope the cow with a breakaway honda. The ability of the horse to efficiently and smoothly control the movement of the cow will be the most important aspect of this division, not the speed at which it is performed.

Conformation

Each horse will be judged on its functional conformation as it relates to soundness and its ability to work.

Tee J Bartender Jo
2003 Grey Mare

Youth and all-around deluxe! Broke for the whole family - shown in 4-H, used as a riding lesson mount, gathered cattle in the pasture & worked in the pens. A beautiful, true all-around mare that can do it all. Offered by Middleton's Delta Q Farms.

40 broke ranch horses and prospects will be on hand, with many competing in the competition earlier that day. Quality and color will be in volume, as consignments from several respected ranches and breeding programs will be offered. Horses sold through this sale are eligible for the 2008 KC Ranch Horse Showback, featuring even more cash prizes!
